When Elwood P. Dowd starts to introduce his imaginary friend, Harvey, a six-and-a-half-foot rabbit, to guests at a society party, his sister has seen as much of his eccentric behavior as she can tolerate and decides to have him committed to a sanitarium to spare her daughter and their family from future embarrassment. Peter grew up on the Bell Road Barn stage and had served on the Board of Directors, most recently as its president. Donations to this scholarship in his honor are used to help young performers with lessons or other performance training.
